Hiring Manager
DLM Capital Group

15 November 2021

Dear Hiring Manager,

As someone who is highly analytical, I enjoy sifting through information to discover and extract what is most important in a given set of materials. Building a career in such a data-driven career as investment banking aligns well with my natural aptitudes. I believe I possess the potentials needed in a team to take DLM Capital to the next level.

I am a final year student of the Department of Finance and Banking at the University of Port Harcourt, on a track to obtain a second-class upper division (based on my first three-year results). The lockdown in 2020, adversely affected my university's academic calendar, which resulted in the university's long break running through 20 December 2021 to 14 March 2022. Thus, I write to apply for the position of Investment Banking Student Intern with DLM Capital Limited, with a proposed starting date of Monday 3 January 2022 and an ending date of Friday 11 March 2022. I have the basic knowledge of skills needed to thrive in the Investment Banking/Corporate Finance division

I am proactive and open to learning new things. While working on academic and extracurricular projects, I discovered some of my natural abilities, which I identify as leadership qualities, solid research, organizational, excellent communication, and analytical skills, which I hope to sharpen and leverage during the internship.

After I earned the CFA Institute Investment Foundations Program Certificate, which gave me the fundamental prerequisite and understanding of the investment industry, out of curiosity to have an idea of the average task of an investment banking analyst, I enrolled for Citi's virtual internship experience on investment banking, where I completed hypothetical cases on Debt Capital Market, Mergers and Acquisitions, Equity Capital Market, And Valuation.

I am excited to have an opportunity to intern for a company that provides the kind of stimulating learning environment that generates innovation and professional development as well as learn from seasoned professionals.

Please find below my resume for your review. I look forward to hearing from you soonest.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

Sincerely,
Tampioruobari Osaro
